Artwork Story

"The story represented in the artwork is about different families coming together with acceptance of their different ways. This story represents so many young people travelling through rough terrain looking for a place to call home, the little footprints represents the young people following and searching for the path to a place where they feel loved, accepted and respected. Learning from our Elders the children have learnt how to survive. The family symbol represents the family centre that accepts children of all ages and colour and making children feel safe at heart. Investing in the Youth is about differing people coming together and nurturing the young people giving them a guiding hand on surviving as adults."

About the Artist

This artwork was created by Ninnette Comito, a Balladong woman of the Gnaalla Karla Boodja.

STATEMENT FROM CEO OF RECONCILIATION AUSTRALIA

Reconciliation Australia congratulates Investing In Our Youth on continuing its reconciliation journey by formally endorsing Investing In Our Youth's second Reflect Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP).

Reconciliation Australia congratulates Investing In Our Youth on continuing its reconciliation journey by formally endorsing Investing In Our Youth second Reflect Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP).

Through this plan, Investing In Our Youth continues to play an important role in a network of more than 2,500 corporate, government, and not-for-profit organisations that have made a formal commitment to reconciliation through the RAP program.

Since 2006, RAPs have provided a framework for organisations to leverage their structures and diverse spheres of influence to support the national reconciliation movement. The program's potential for impact is greater than ever, with close to 3 million people now working or studying in an organisation with a RAP.

The four RAP types — Reflect, Innovate, Stretch and Elevate — allow RAP partners to continuously develop and strengthen reconciliation commitments in new ways. This Reflect RAP continues the journey and primes the workplace for future RAPs and reconciliation initiatives.

The RAP program's strength is its framework of relationships, respect, and opportunities, allowing an organisation to strategically set its reconciliation commitments in line with its own business objectives, for the most effective outcomes.

These outcomes contribute towards the five dimensions of reconciliation: race relations; equality and equity; institutional integrity; unity; and historical acceptance.

It is critical to not only uphold all five dimensions of reconciliation, but also to increase awareness of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures, histories, knowledge, and leadership across all sectors of Australian society.

This Reflect RAP enables Investing In Our Youth to deepen its understanding of its sphere of influence and the unique contribution it can make to lead progress across the five dimensions. Getting these steps right will ensure the sustainability of future RAPs and reconciliation initiatives, and provide meaningful impact toward Australia's reconciliation journey.

Congratulations Investing In Our Youth on your second Reflect RAP, and I look forward to following your continuing reconciliation journey.
